IT Security Day

Secure your lead for more security today!

by ASCONSIT | Published on 30. November 2020

Today is Computer Security Day. Have you already thought about the current situation in your company?

How secure are the security solutions in heterogeneous system landscapes in your company? Are you familiar with the latest and most sophisticated solutions for identity, authorization and access management, defense against cyber attacks? Do you have time to continuously take care of current trends and updates yourself and to evaluate and implement solutions for your needs?

ASCONSIT helps companies to better manage their information security, increase their efficiency and master the latest changes. Innovation paired with quality, competence in the team, flexibility and timely implementation are our proven strengths.

The complexity of time-consuming processes is reduced and access decisions go back into the hands of those responsible and users.

Get to know our services for more IT security. The best way is to answer today: The first 3 under securityday@asconsit.com receive our Scoping Workshop free of charge.

We are ready for you - with security!