Services

Always Keeping Our Customers' Needs in Sight!

As an IT consultancy, we specialize in providing needs-oriented guidance to our customers, as well as developing and implementing individualized IT solutions. In order to offer tailor-made services and professional IT service management to our customers, we constantly self-evaluate against ITIL when developing our quality standards, expanding our comprehensive range of services, and improving our incident management strategy. The ITIL framework defines structures and processes that we systematically follow while developing, introducing, operating and – keeping the changing needs of our customers constantly in mind – continually improving our services.

Consultancy

Effective and open communication ensures the best foundation for an effective security concept. That's why ASCONSIT always seeks to engage in an intensive dialogue with our customers as a cornerstone of our consultative approach and when developing robust and future-proof IT security environments.

Consultancy

Development & Support

The support and infrastructure maintenance needs of our customers vary greatly. We respond to the specific needs of our customers by crafting custom solutions and support services that are tailored to their requirements.

Development & Support

Training & Workshops

We support our customers by preparing custom knowledge transfers, targeting your exact needs by coordinating the content with you. Don’t hesitate to get in touch! Together, we can develop the optimal training solution for your company!

Training & Workshops

